

Out of favor stock screen

Report dated: 5/1/2024

Our Out-of-Favor Stock Screen consists of up to two Buy-rated stocks in each major sector that are down the most from their two-year highs by a minimum of 10%. A sector will not be represented if there are no Buy-rated stocks down the minimum of 10%. This screen will be updated monthly. Stocks on the list could change depending on market conditions. The screen can be used to find stocks that are down in price, but our analysts believe the long-term fundamentals of the companies remain positive.

Limitations of this screen: A decline in a stock price does not always translate into a better valuation. It can be an early indicator of deterioration in a company's fundamentals, which can lead to additional price declines (often referred to as "Value Traps").
