What we do

Edward Jones Trust Company provides trust, investment management and custody services to individuals, businesses, charitable organizations and private foundations.

We offer a full range of personal trust and investment management services, including portfolio management, special assets management, beneficiary assistance, and reporting and performance review.

Portfolio management

While serving as trustee or investment agent, we manage assets according to your account's investment objective. In addition to traditional investments, we also assume responsibility as a trustee for a variety of special assets.

Special assets management

Our Special Assets team is comprised of individuals experienced in the analysis of complex considerations related to unique assets that may be owned by a client's trust. This enables the Trust Company to facilitate the management of assets beyond stocks, bonds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and mutual funds. The Special Assets team, along with third-party partners, has the expertise to assess and manage unique assets. These assets include real estate, farmland, oil/gas/mineral interests, notes and tangible personal property or collectibles.

Administrative services

We can perform a variety of administrative duties on your behalf. We can pay household, nursing home and medical bills according to your and your trust's direction. As part of the administrative service, we provide periodic statements summarizing receipts, disbursements and the value of assets within the account.

Beneficiary assistance

Edward Jones Trust Company will make asset distributions according to the terms of the governing instrument and offer budgeting and distribution planning assistance to beneficiaries.

Reporting and performance review

We provide monthly or quarterly statements and periodic conference calls to review your portfolio's performance.

More about portfolio management

Strategic, objectives-based approach

As trustee or investment agent, we develop an investment objective for each account you have with us. When establishing the investment objective, we consider a number of factors, including income needs, risk tolerance, your tax situation, provisions of the governing document and applicable law. We then manage the investments to each of your account objectives. Our investment philosophy aligns with that of Edward Jones, which includes a long-term strategy, with an emphasis on diversification and quality investments.

Account review and reporting

Following an initial review of your portfolio, formal investment reviews are conducted every calendar year. More frequent informal reviews may occur based on changes in your needs, objectives or tax situation.

We provide recurring statements and comprehensive annual statements. The information includes a reporting of all account holdings and transactions. We can also provide account information through our online platform.

In terms of oversight, the Trust Investment Committee is responsible for the review of assets and/or investment processes for discretionary accounts. The committee consists of Trust Company and Edward Jones employees.

Types of securities and special assets

Common stocks, mutual funds, ETFs and fixed-income securities are the primary investment vehicles for most accounts. Life insurance policies are the primary investments in irrevocable life insurance trusts. When serving as trustee, we assume responsibility for a variety of assets that we would not purchase in our normal course of business. These special assets include real estate, limited partnerships, annuities, savings bonds, private stock and private bonds. These assets are managed according to the terms of the governing document, applicable law and Trust Company policies.

Investment discretion

As trustee or investment agent, we have discretion over account investments. This discretionary authority comes under the governing document and applicable law. For investment agency services, discretionary authority is outlined in your account agreement.

Best execution practices

Best execution refers to well-informed trade execution decisions made with the intention of helping enhance the value of your portfolio under the particular circumstances at the time. Equity and fixed-income transactions are typically made through our affiliate, Edward Jones.

As a fiduciary, we monitor to verify Edward Jones' best execution practices, including price, reliability, service, speed of execution and delivery.

How we operate

Code of ethics

Edward Jones Trust Company has adopted a code of ethics that governs our associates. Among other things, the code of ethics covers compliance with applicable regulations, policies and procedures on protecting client information and is reviewed annually by all associates. A complete copy of our code of ethics is available upon request. Please reach out to your trust officer or contact our Chief Compliance Officer at Trust-Compliance@edwardjones.com.

Account acceptance

We accept accounts based on our ability to deliver quality fiduciary services at a reasonable profit without undue risk. We may use our affiliates, including but not limited to Edward Jones, and other third parties, including those located abroad, for account-related services. Edward Jones Trust Company will begin serving as trustee or investment agent upon formal account acceptance; we assume no fiduciary responsibility unless we have formally accepted the account and its assets.

The factors we use in considering accounts include:

- Identity, residency and capacity of the parties
- The character of the assets, including their nature and location and any conditions that would hinder efficient management, such as the size of the account
- Any conflicts of interest in administering the account or undocumented needs of the beneficiaries
- The adequacy of the fee in relation to the time and effort for administration, as well as the risk of litigation among beneficiaries
- The adequacy of the powers and directions in the governing document
- Any factors that would affect our duties as fiduciary, such as state law or provisions, duties, restrictions or obligations of the governing document
- Whether co-trustees can work together to serve the grantors and beneficiaries

Custody activities

We serve as custodian for certain Edward Jones IRA accounts. As custodian, the Trust Company is responsible for the safekeeping of client assets. We may delegate some or all of our custodial duties to Edward Jones.

Customer identification program

To help in the fight against terrorism, and in accordance with federal law, the Trust Company or Edward Jones will obtain and verify information that identifies each person who opens an account. To open a Trust Company account, you'll need to provide information including, but not limited to, name, address, date of birth and Social Security number.

Safekeeping of fiduciary assets

The safekeeping of fiduciary assets occurs through our depository relationships with SEI Private Trust Company and our affiliate, Edward Jones. The depositories include Depository Trust Clearing Corporation (DTCC), the Federal Reserve Bank and the Bank of New York (BONY).

In unique situations, the Trust Company's fiduciary assets are held in Edward Jones' depository account. Examples would include assets that are not transferable, limited partnerships in the process of liquidation and assets in the process of estate redemption. Physical securities that are not depository-eligible are maintained in a secured vault under dual control either at the Trust Company or Edward Jones. In limited circumstances, mutual funds or sub-accounts of insurance contracts are held in unissued share form at the fund company. The Trust Company's primary custodians are:

SEI Private Trust Company

Edward Jones

Proxy voting

As a fiduciary, Edward Jones Trust Company retains an unaffiliated third-party proxy voting agent to analyze, recommend and execute proxy votes. The use of third-party voting guidelines serves to prevent proxy votes from conflicts of interest involving the Trust Company or its affiliates. Proxies will be voted in accordance with the best interest of the account.

Ending our relationship

Investment agency or managed IRA relationships may be terminated at any time by written request. The termination of trust account relationships is considered and determined based on consistency with our trustee duties and applicable law.

Our fee structure

Trust services, managing agent, managed IRA

When serving as trustee, co-trustee or managing agent, we provide you and your beneficiaries with personalized asset management and fiduciary services coordinated through the financial advisor.

Account fees use a tiered scale based on assets under management. In addition, Trust accounts include a base charge of $2,000 per year. This charge does not apply to Managing Agent or IRA accounts.

Accounts exceeding $10 million are typically charged a flat percentage fee.

Unless otherwise noted in the governing document or specified by applicable law, all fees are charged monthly in arrears using the monthly daily average of account value.

Our minimum account size is generally $500,000 in liquid marketable securities, and the minimum annual fee is $6,000 for the first account and $3,000 for each additional account.

For accounts subject to the minimum annual fee, the effective annual fee percentage rate may exceed the following rates.

Fee disclosure statement

Affiliate transactions

Edward Jones Trust Company (“we” or “us”) is a wholly owned subsidiary of The Jones Financial Companies, L.L.P. We are a separate entity from Edward D. Jones & Co., L.P. (“Edward Jones”), a dually registered broker-dealer and investment adviser and also a subsidiary of The Jones Financial Companies.

Edward Jones Trust Company’s (“our”) published fee schedule provides a listing of the fees for our trust and investment management services. We may use Edward Jones and our other affiliates for account-related services. We typically use Edward Jones to act as a broker-dealer for securities transactions within our managed accounts. The commissions for these transactions are typically included in our fees, but additional fees for other services by our affiliates may be charged to your account. You will be notified of any change to our published fee schedule.

Financial advisor compensation

Unless otherwise determined by state law, the Edward Jones financial advisor who assists with an Edward Jones Trust Company managed account receives a portion, not to exceed 35%, of the fee charged by us. The assistance may include identifying clients in need of fiduciary services, collecting account or client information and communicating with clients. We remain solely responsible for all fiduciary services, including administrative and investment decisions.

Edward Jones financial advisors may also participate in a bonus program sponsored by Edward Jones that will allocate a credit of 54 cents for every $1,000 in accounts managed by Edward Jones Trust Company. Under this program, financial advisors may receive production awards, trips and other incentives. Additional information with respect to financial advisor compensation can be found at edwardjones.com/disclosures.

Compensation paid to Edward Jones financial advisors may be adjusted from time to time. We may or may not reimburse Edward Jones for some or all of the compensation it pays to the financial advisor. Any such payments to the financial advisor or Edward Jones will not result in additional charges to the account.

The Edward Jones financial advisor does not receive direct allocation of the fees that we collect in our capacity as trustee of an irrevocable life insurance trust. However, those fees may be considered by Edward Jones when calculating bonuses paid to financial advisors. When life insurance policies are purchased, insurance companies pay a commission to Edward Jones. Edward Jones also receives annual renewal commissions. These commissions do not result in additional charges to the account.

Mutual fund fee information

When acting as trustee or in other fiduciary capacities, we may hold or invest clients’ assets in mutual funds, money market funds, annuities or other pooled investments. Such funds are generally bought and sold at net asset value, resulting in no direct sales charge to the account. The fund management companies and their affiliates charge various commissions or management fees for their services, as described in their prospectuses. Those commissions or fees are separate from and in addition to the fees paid to Edward Jones Trust Company.

Rule 12b-1 fees

A portion of the assets in a mutual fund may be paid to Edward Jones Trust Company, Edward Jones or our third-party service providers for administrative or distribution services. Such payments are governed by Rule 12b-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Generally, the fees (known as “12b-1 fees”) are less than 1.00% of the average annual share value of the fund shares.

When 12b-1 fees arise from mutual fund assets held in accounts in which Edward Jones Trust Company has discretionary authority, which includes those accounts in which we serve as trustee, we will provide a fee offset in an amount approximately equivalent to the 12b-1 fees received by us or our third-party providers. The fee offset will be applied to our account fees and will show on the account statement.

When 12b-1 fees arise from assets held in the subaccounts of annuities, life insurance policies or other similar products, they may be retained or credited to us or our providers. In these cases, a fee offset will not be applied to the account fees.

Additional information concerning the calculation of 12b-1 fees is set forth in a fund’s prospectus relating to the mutual fund or a pooled investment and is available upon request.

Revenue sharing

Our affiliate, Edward Jones, receives payments known as revenue sharing from certain mutual fund companies, 529 plan program managers and insurance companies (collectively referred to as “product partners”). Virtually all of Edward Jones’ transactions relating to mutual funds, 529 plans and annuity products involve product partners that pay revenue sharing to Edward Jones. Edward Jones does not receive revenue sharing payments on assets within Edward Jones investment advisory programs or Edward Jones Trust Company managed accounts. Edward Jones’ receipt of revenue sharing creates a potential conflict of interest to Edward Jones and its affiliates, including Edward Jones Trust Company, in the form of additional financial incentive and financial benefit, direct or indirect, to the firm, its financial advisors and equity owners in connection with the sale of products from these product partners. For more information about revenue sharing, including a list of product partners who paid revenue sharing to Edward Jones, please visit edwardjones.com/revenuesharing.

The Edward Jones Trust Company Trust Investment Committee reviews and maintains a list of permitted mutual fund holdings for trusts and other accounts for which we have investment discretion. The list includes mutual funds of Edward Jones product partners. A significant portion of the mutual fund assets held for managed accounts at Edward Jones Trust Company are invested in mutual funds of Edward Jones product partners.

Information privacy

Training and education seminars

Third-party providers such as product wholesalers, distributors and investment managers may reimburse or pay certain expenses on behalf of Edward Jones and its affiliates, including expenses related to training, marketing and educational efforts. The training focuses on, among other things, the third-party provider's products, suitability, product literature and product support. Training and marketing incentives, and other noncash incentives from third parties, create a potential conflict of interest for Edward Jones and its affiliates, including Edward Jones Trust Company, to the extent that this may cause a preference for those product partners with greater access, marketing opportunities and educational opportunities.

Affiliated mutual funds

Edward Jones Trust Company does not provide investment advisory services or investment management services to mutual funds or other pooled investments. However, Olive Street Investment Advisers, LLC, a subsidiary of The Jones Financial Companies, L.L.P., and affiliate of Edward Jones Trust Company, serves as the investment advisor of certain affiliated mutual funds. Edward Jones Trust Company will generally not purchase or retain these affiliated mutual funds for client accounts over which it has investment discretion. These funds may, however, be used in certain advisory accounts offered by Edward Jones, including Individual Retirement Accounts where Edward Jones Trust Company is the custodian for account assets. Certain current or former associates of Edward Jones or its affiliates may serve as officers or directors of the affiliated investment advisor or the affiliated mutual funds.

The privacy of your information

Edward Jones Trust Company takes seriously the privacy of your information. On the following page is an industry standard table to help communicate our privacy practices. If you have questions, please contact us at Trust-Compliance@edwardjones.com.

Email communication

Email can be a very efficient and effective method to communicate about your account. However, because email is not typically a secure means of communication, it is important that you not include confidential information (e.g., account numbers and Social Security numbers) in messages you send to the Trust Company. If you need to communicate confidential information to the Trust Company, please do so via telephone, fax or traditional mail.

If you choose to communicate with the Trust Company via email, you will be solely responsible for preventing unauthorized access to your computer and email account (including usernames and passwords). The Trust Company will treat all correspondence originating from your email account as initiated by you and will not be responsible for damages when acting on instructions and requests communicated by unauthorized individuals using your email account. For your protection, certain disbursement or transfer instructions that you communicate to us by email may be verified by a Trust Company employee (typically by phone or in person) before the request will be processed.
